"The sun is rising and it is time to start our day. The skies are clear, the air is crisp and clean and it is going to be another great day in Pullman, Washington. We are surrounded by the rolling emerald-green hills of the Palouse region. As we reach the crest of College Hill, the skyline of Washington State University comes into view. The Bryan Hall clock tower stands high above the campus. As the campus comes into full sight, we are proud to work at a world-class institution that bonds with the town of Pullman to form a tremendous collegiate environment. Our facilities and academic resources are second-to-none and the Washington State campus offers beautiful architecture, huge lawns, magnificent trees and well-landscaped grounds for all to enjoy. As we walk into Bohler Athletic Complex our ride is just beginning and we are reminded of our commitment to providing the very best student-athlete experience in the nation.

Welcome to the ride of your life. Welcome to Cougar Volleyball and the Pacific-10 Conference. Welcome to Washington State University."

—Head Coach, Brian Heffernan and the Cougar Volleyball Staff
